

Dear friends and colleagues,

Today we launch AAR's much anticipated 2015 Freight Rail Works campaign, an exploration of freight rail's real-time investments in building, growing and maintaining the world's best freight rail network.

Freight Rail Works whisks viewers across the country to witness the projects, the innovation and the freight rail community's commitment to continuous improvement.

We'd like to introduce our guide, Jeremy, who brings a native curiosity to his role as host. He will delve into the details of what makes freight rail run, why our investments are important, and what our presence means to industries, communities, job creation and the environment.

Visit FreightRailWorks.org to see our new campaign and join Jeremy while he explores our 140,000 mile network and discovers how freight railroads are designed to move the nation.

Thanks for tuning in!

Sincerely,

Edward R. Hamberger
